Excelsior Springs Community Center Gym

Full Court Play Prohibited in Multipurpose Gym

In an effort to cater to diverse recreational interests and promote an inclusive environment, Excelsior Springs Community Center introduces its gymnasium policy update for the multipurpose gym. While equipped with top-notch facilities, we are announcing the decision for full-court basketball play will now be prohibited.

This decision stems from a commitment to accommodating a wide range of activities and ensuring a safe space for everyone. The multipurpose gym will continue to serve as a hub for various sports and fitness programs, fostering community engagement and well-being.

We believe in creating an environment where everyone feels welcome and has the opportunity to participate in activities they enjoy. By restricting full-court basketball play, we aim to promote equitable access to the gym for all members of our community. Basketball games can still play across the court on the East side of the gym, while leaving the West side of the court open for open play with a variety of other activities. This same guideline will be in effect for pickleball as well.

The space offers a variety of amenities, including fitness classes, group workouts, and recreational sports. From yoga and aerobics to volleyball and pickleball. Excelsior Springs Community Center is dedicated to providing a platform for a diverse array of physical activities.

As we continue to prioritize the needs and preferences of our community, we invite everyone to explore the multipurpose gym and take advantage of the exciting programs and events planned for the coming months. For more information and schedules, please visit www.es-prcc.com.

Excelsior Springs Community Center remains committed to being a beacon of inclusivity, promoting wellness, and building connections within our community.
